

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL SERVICES

International Admissions

April 09, 2015

Mr. Kai Zhen
Room IX-209, Central Building,
Tsinghua University
Beijing, BEIJIN 100084
China

Dear Mr. Zhen,

Congratulations again on your admission to a doctoral program with a major of Computer Science in the School of Informatics and Computing for fall 2015. Your admission to Indiana University is a true recognition of your talents and abilities. I sincerely hope that you will choose IU and join our ever-growing global community.

IU's world-renowned faculty offer some of the most highly ranked academic programs in the country. This tradition of academic excellence, combined with world-class arts, athletics, and activities, will prepare you for a lifetime of success at IU and beyond.

This offer of admission is based on the information available at the time of review. Continued enrollment at Indiana University requires satisfactory proof of post-secondary school completion. You are expected to maintain your current level of academic performance with integrity.

Your admissions packet includes a customized list of Next Steps to help you prepare for your arrival in Bloomington. Please complete all of these action items in order ensure a smooth transition to the United States.

IU is an amazing place to pursue your education. I look forward to seeing you among the diverse group of students gathered in Bloomington. Please feel free to contact us if there is any way we can help you through this process. Welcome to the IU family!

Sincerely,

Christopher J. Viers, Ph.D.
Associate Vice President for International Services